DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

2. Claims 1 – 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 ( b ) as being anticipated by Shibata ( US 6,409,574 ).

Shibata discloses a lens processing apparatus comprising a lens fixing jig installed in a lens to be processed to clamp the lens, a lens rotation shaft ( 702L, 702R ) for clamping and rotating the lens to be processed ( See Columns 9 and 10, lines 66 – 67 and 1 – 3 respectively ), a measuring element ( See Column 1, lines 50 – 53 ) abutted on a refracting surface of the lens clamped by the lens rotation shaft, a measuring unit for measuring a moving distance of the measuring element ( See Column 2, lines 10 – 13 ), and an arithmetic control means for identifying a shape of the lens fixing jig based on the moving distance of the measuring element measured by the measuring unit (See Column 2, lines 65 – 67).

With respect to claim 2, Shibata further discloses the said lens rotation shaft being swung to be brought to contact or separated from the measuring element ( See Figure 13 and Columns 10 – 11, lines 47 – 63 and 44 – 67 respectively ).

Regarding claim 3, Shibata also discloses said measuring element including a pair of feelers ( 515, 517 ) to be brought into contact with the lens to be processed ( See Figure 13 ).

With respect to claim 4, Shibata discloses said measuring unit including a measuring element moving amount detecting mechanism ( See Column 2, lines 11 – 13 ).

Regarding claims 5 - 6, Shibata discloses said arithmetic control means controlling the rotation of the lens shaft according to a measuring element moving amount detected from the measuring unit and also measuring the size of an outer shape of said lens fixing jig based on a signal from the measuring unit ( See Column 2, lines 55 – 67 ).

With respect to claims 7 - 8, Shibata discloses a lens processing apparatus comprising a lens fixing jig installed in a lens to be processed to clamp the lens, a lens rotation shaft ( 702L, 702R ) for clamping and rotating the lens to be processed ( See Columns 9 and 10, lines 66 – 67 and 1 – 3 respectively ), a measuring element ( See Column 1, lines 50 – 53 ) abutted on a refracting surface of the lens clamped by the lens rotation shaft, a measuring element rotating means for controlling rotation of the measuring element around a rotation shaft parallel to the lens rotation shaft ( See Columns 11 and 12, lines 45 – 47 and 45 – 56 respectively ), a measuring unit for measuring a moving distance of the measuring element in a direction parallel to the lens rotation shaft ( See Column 2, lines 10 – 13 ), and an arithmetic control means for rotating a tip of the measuring element around the lens rotation shaft and identifying a shape of the lens fixing jig based on the distance of the abutted position of the tip of the measuring element from a measuring element reference position ( See Column 2, lines 65 – 67 ).

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Suzuki et al. ( US 5,594,992 ) discloses an apparatus for measuring a lens frame configuration having a supporting device ( 200 ), a measuring portion ( 300 ) and measuring element ( 356 ), and an arithmetic and control circuit ( 600 ). Logan et al. ( US 4,724,617 ) discloses an apparatus for tracing the lens. Suzuki ( US 5,501,017 ) discloses an apparatus for measuring a frame configuration having a feeler ( 356 ) and an arithmetic and control circuit (600).
